

WILSON HUNTING AROUND FOR HUERTA'S SUCCESSOR.

Bryan Announces Definite Statement of Policy Will Be Made in a Few Days, as Foreign Powers Are in Full Accord with the United States—Direct Line of Communication Now Formed with Carranza.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Secretary Bryan announced today that a statement would be issued within a few days setting forth the policy of the United States toward Mexico. Whether the statement will be in the form of a communication to Congress by President Wilson has not been disclosed.

The announcement is thought not only will reiterate the views that the United States can never recognize a government established by arbitrary force, but will give its reasons for refusing to recognize any acts of the new Congress either as to the validity of loans or concessions, and point out the steps necessary to a solution of the problem.

It was apparent that developments in various foreign capitals brought encouragement today to administration officials. There was a feeling among them that the desire that the United States to prevent interference by the powers virtually had been accomplished.

President Wilson's speech explaining that Great Britain wished to do nothing that was unfriendly to the United States, semi-official American sources here said that the statement would be given Huerta by Germany, a definite understanding with France that nothing would be done by France to embarrass the process which the United States has selected to solve the Mexican problem, assurance from the Japanese Ambassador that the sending of the armored cruiser Isumo to Mexican waters was for no political purpose, but merely to extend protection to Japanese subjects if necessary—all tended to strengthen the belief here that the Washington government finally had secured the moral support of the other world powers in its efforts to unravel the Mexican tangle. It also is authority that no part of Europe will Huerta receive financial assistance.

AFTER HUERTA, WHAT?
Europeans fear that the overthrow of Huerta might produce a state of anarchy in Mexico City unless a strong substitute were provided immediately, agrees with the point of view of many senators who have been discussing that phase of the situation with President Wilson. The administration has taken cognizance of this eventuality, and if Huerta retires in accordance with the program desired here, it is said there need be little fear of any physical disturbance in Mexico City.

In the plan of the United States to send Huerta's government to retire peacefully, there is a desire for a definite understanding also as to who the succeeding provisional President would be. The United States recognizes that the provisional successor must be acceptable to the Constitutionalists if the latter are to stop fighting.

Close observers of the situation point out that the United States is in a better position today to bring about an understanding between the Constitutionalists and the authorities in Mexico City than since the United States first interposed its good offices.

IN TOUCH WITH CARRANZA.
The conference today at Nogales, Sonora, between William Haywood (Hale) and Gen. Carranza and the members of the Constitutional Cabinet opens the way for a direct line of communication between the Constitutionalists and the Mexico City authorities.

Peace commissions have endeavored in vain heretofore to establish a line of diplomatic parity between the two sides.

Word reached Washington today that officials close to Huerta were urging him to retire.

Vicente Chinda, the Japanese Ambassador, discussed the situation today at some length with Mr. Bryan. Talk of lifting the embargo on arms was heard again in official circles.

Representative Mann, Republican leader, said so far as the Republicans were concerned there was no sentiment in favor of letting down the bars. He said it would be just as safe to allow the issuance of arms to highways as to the hands of Carranza's army.

LAS PALOMAS, (Chihuahua) Nov. 12.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Preliminary to the exportation of several thousand head of cattle to American markets the Constitutionalists today opened a custom house here under the direction of Maximo Castillo, a former independent rebel leader.

The Way of Rebels Out of Nogales.

Gen. Carranza and his relations with his northern neighbor.

All that could be learned regarding the proposal of the American President was that it was in writing, and that it required certain things, including pledges, from the Constitutionalists, in case the United States lifted the embargo on the exportation of arms.

Among guarantees demanded were said to be restoration of general order in a reasonable time, safety of Americans and other foreigners, and the ultimate establishment of a bonafide representative government.

Into a little room of the tiny adobe, or customhouse, in which Gen. Carranza has established his "ad interim" capital, the mercurial summary was ushered to meet the chiefs of the rebellion against Huerta. Carranza and his entire cabinet were there, and with them Hale conferred, exchanged views and impressions, and consulted from noon until the shadow of evening enveloped the twin towns of Nogales, U.S.A., and Nogales, Republica de Mexico.

MEETING IS PORTENTOUS.
Both towns unanimously decided that the conference was the most portentous event in their history. They people frankly believed that, in fact, it was making history, and that on its outcome depended fate—not merely victory or defeat for a single political party of Mexico, but possibly peace or war for two countries, and probably the salvation or destruction of the nation.

The conference was held amid the simplest surroundings. There were no uniforms, no ceremony.

Hale, accompanied by American Consul Frederick Simpich, entered the customhouse and they were ushered into a small room. There they found straight-back chairs lining the walls. The only decoration was a gilded coat of arms of the republic of Mexico. This hung over the place reserved for Gen. Carranza.

Hale, dressed in traveling tweeds, was surrounded by Mexicans in sombre blacks and grays.

Tenacito Bonillas, an American university alumnus and Carranza's minister of fomento and communications, was the official interpreter for the American representatives and Gen. Carranza.

Bonillas took President Wilson's proposition from a Spanish translation presented to the rebel chieftain.

During the hours the men were in conference a throng of anxious Mexicans paced the sidewalks of the adobe. Across the boundary, on the American side of the street dividing the two towns, the rebels under Chief of the rebels awaited news from the conference chamber. President Wilson's advice to get out of the country, denunciation of the officers, and word as to what President Wilson had proposed to Carranza, through Hale, or what the rebels thought of the proposal, was allowed to leak out.

Hale went direct from the conference room to the American side and sent a message into communication with Washington.

REBELS ARE PLEASED.
While they maintained silence as to the copies of the conference, the Constitutionalists could not repress signs of the pleasure they felt over the action of President Wilson in sending a personal representative to them. They felt it was tantamount to official recognition of the revolutionaries.

Coupled with this there was among these Mexicans not in the conference the feeling that the proposal of President Wilson concerned vital Gen. Carranza's wish to have the American embargo on the importation of arms into Mexico lifted.

Immediately on his arrival, Hale got a taste of frontier life. The few hotels of Nogales are crowded with refugees, and President Wilson's representative was forced to accept the tender of a railroad conductor's attic room.

The report states that the Federal gunboat Morelos had been forced to leave Altata harbor after having participated vainly in the defense of the town.

COVARRUBIAS WILLING TO SUCCEED HUERTA.

(BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.)

LONDON, Nov. 12.—In a statement made this afternoon regarding Mexican affairs, Senor Covarrubias, the former Mexican Minister to Russia, said that, while not seeking the Presidency, he would willingly assume the office if called on by the Mexican people. He made this announcement because he had been reported that he might become President of the Mexican Republic. The ex-minister said that he would be successful if they were called by the Mexican people.

Espee Railroad in South Asia Mediation in Threatened Strike of Employees.

HOUSTON (Tex.) Nov. 12.—An ultimatum of federated engineers and trainmen on the Sunset Central lines of the Southern Pacific Railroad between New Orleans and El Paso, that the affirmative referendum strike vote would be put into effect tomorrow night at 1 o'clock, and an appeal by the railroad to the Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation to compose existing differences, brought the strike situation to a crisis early tonight.

It is believed now that a walkout will be averted as the unionists have intimated that a solution of the differences through the Covarrubias amendment to the Kridman arbitration act would be acceptable to them. They have contended for a joint settlement of the grievances of the four reformers, to which the railroad officials declined to submit.

Approximately 3000 employees are involved. All are members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Enginemen, Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors. Wages alleged violations of contract and personal claims are among the grievances.

President W. B. Scott of the Sunset Central line made the formal request of the Federal Board of Mediation.

Fall River Union Textile Workers Start Move to Demand General Wage Increase.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
FALL RIVER (Mass.) Nov. 12.—Action by union labor looking toward a demand for a general increase in wages for the 22,000 operatives in the 100 cotton mills of this city was taken tonight.

Four of the five textile unions of the city voted to ask the textile council, the central organization of operatives, for indorsement of demands for an advance in the wage scale. These unions are the weavers, carders, claspers, tenders and spinners. They represent about three-fourths of the organized mill workers in the city and about one-third of all the operatives.

In explanation of tonight's action Secretary James Whitcomb of the weavers said:

"There has been a feeling of unrest among the operatives for some time. They feel that the time is opportune for an increase in wages. This is due to the fact that a short time ago two of the largest corporations in the city, the Union Mills and the Luther Mills, declared big dividends."

Chicago Jury Finds Attorney Framed Up Suit to Injure Reputation of Enemy of Former Illinois Senator—Detective Tried in Same Affair Is Acquitted.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—Daniel Donahoe, charged with conspiracy to defame Clarence S. Funk, former general manager of the International Harvester Company, was found guilty tonight and fined $2000.

Donahoe and Siefel were indicted, charged with conspiracy to defame, after a suit charging Funk with having alienated the affections of Mrs. John C. Hennings, had been dismissed.

The names of both former Senator Lorimer and Edward Hines, millionaire lumber merchant, were mentioned in the Donahoe trial by Funk, who related the substance of testimony given before the United States Senate.

Testimony given before the Illinois legislative investigating committee resulted in a re-opening of the case against former Senator William Lorimer, and it was learned that he had been legally elected to the Senate.

The four men were overwhelmed by their tent by the avalanche of snow that came down upon them and carried them and their tent to within ten feet of a 1000-foot precipice.

Bruner managed to work himself loose by using a part of a whisky flask, that was near, as a knife. With his hands badly cut and not a shred of clothing on him, he walked a quarter of a mile to the tunnel and secured a shovel with which he dug Warren Nelson out after the latter had been pinned down three and a half hours.

Bruner and Nelson continued the work of rescue until John Connelly, another partner, was released. He had been buried for seven and a half hours before he was rescued, but he will still live. Martin's body was not found until the next day. It was crushed.

PEKING, Nov. 12.—President Yuan Shi Kai intends to summon an "administrative council" which in addition to transacting state affairs, will draft regulations governing the new parliament. The council will consist of seventy-one members, consisting of the cabinet officers and others appointed by the President and the provincial Governors, who have already been appointed by him.

Yuan Shi Kai considers the present House of Representatives is unwieldy and desires its reduction to 300 members. The original number of representatives was 594. The powers of the parliament will also be materially curtailed, and the Senate will disappear, giving place to the administrative council, which will be a permanent body.

This programme was announced today and it probably will be carried into effect if the opponents of the President are not able to bring about its modification.

In the meantime the remnant of parliament is permitted to continue holding informal meetings, but can do no business because of lack of a quorum.

FORMER FEDERAL OFFICIAL ENDS GOUT AND BAD STOMACH WITH AKOZ

Hon. John C. Lynch is An Ardent Advocate of the New Mineral Remedy.

Former Collector of Internal Revenue and Former Bank Commissioner John C. Lynch of San Francisco, who has been a sufferer from acute nervous stomach trouble, has found relief in Akos.

This natural remedy, which has given such speedy relief in cases of rheumatism, stomach trouble, catarrh, indigestion, and numerous other ailments, promptly drove the gout from Mr. Lynch's system and also relieved him from acute nervous stomach trouble.

Before using Akos Mr. Lynch tried numerous other remedies and dieted, but received only slight temporary relief. With the Akos treatment he did not diet, but made remarkable progress in regaining his health.

Akos is Nature's own remedy, free from alcohol, ingredients and is in no way harmful to the system. It is a general tonic, pleasant to the taste.

Here is what Mr. Lynch has to say of Akos:

"For a period of over 10 years I was a sufferer from acute nervous stomach trouble, from which I had suffered for some time. I had tried many remedies, but without success. I was induced by Mr. Mackenzie to try the Akos mineral powder on my foot. I experienced immediate relief. I followed this treatment by drinking the Akos water. I became permanently cured, having had no attack of gout for over two years, notwithstanding the fact that I have placed

Everyone who has read the newspapers during the past four weeks well knows that beautiful FRANCISCA PARK is located in the Wilshire District, away from the heat and noise of the busy center of Los Angeles. Every thoughtful reader has also noticed the rapidity with which the lots in FRANCISCA PARK have been sold and has come to the conclusion that there must be genuine merit in the proposition offered to the home-seeker.

It has been our purpose to present to the public the plain, uncolored facts about FRANCISCA PARK. It is true that we are enthusiastic about the matter, but so are the purchasers of nearly 100 lots purchased in the last few months, many of which have houses already built and many more are being built upon at the present time.

One client, a man well up in professional circles, said: "FRANCISCA PARK is certainly the talk of the town." He bought two lots.

A woman of great refinement said: "I will take one and a half lots upon which to build a house and two lots for investment."

Every lot in FRANCISCA PARK is level and within a few inches of the street grade.

It has all improvements, including sewer, city water, gas, electric lights and paved streets. All connections are made to the curb line.

Our terms are of the easiest, our price is the cheapest, our location is the best.

A reasonable discount will be allowed for cash.

In order to reach FRANCISCA PARK, take Western Avenue car line, stop at Third and Oxford, where you will find our branch office and salesman in attendance.

How do You feel this Morning?

Like This

OR

Like This

YOU have been asked that question. There's only one answer. Most people can tell by looking at you how you really feel. A clear, healthy person with a sunny smile and bright eyes, clear skin, rosy cheeks, the whole thing, with a feeling of well-being, is a person who is healthy. You can avoid that look. It is caused by a systematic poisoning due to constipated bowels and liver. DON'T wait till your "friend" suggests that you take something "to-night." Do it now and avoid a disagreeable day and night. If you take a 4 cent bottle of WEBB'S HAIR TONIC, the natural laxative, when you get up, or any time on an empty stomach, it acts within one hour or so. No waiting, no worrying and you'll "feel like a man." Get a bottle at any Drug Store to-day.

Says Discharged Employee Invented the Letter.
Joke Is, Wilson and Bryan Both Believe It, Too.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Henry M. Pindell, the Peoria (Ill.) publisher, will be nominated for Ambassador to Russia and the recently-published correspondence which was alleged to have passed between him and Senator Lewis will not influence the President's decision. Secretary Bryan today issued a statement which said in part:

"Mr. Pindell did not seek the appointment. It was tendered to him without any solicitation on his part. In response to the offer he frankly stated that he would be glad to serve the administration, but that he did not feel that he could conscientiously obligate himself to serve the full or ordinary term of a foreign appointment. The President asked him to accept it for as long a time as he could stay and he consented. This is a statement of a matter which has been grossly misrepresented. The President will not allow malicious representations to interfere with his right to nominate to the Senate the best qualified men within his reach for conscientious and responsible positions."

Mr. Bryan, in making public his statement, declared the Pindell incident closed. Senator Lewis issued a statement tonight explaining the much-discussed letter. He asserted a discharged employee of his Washington office had invented the letter, attempted to quote some of the words from letters which the Senator actually had written to the Illinois editor.

Senator Lewis said the appointment of Mr. Pindell being assured, it was "but fair for me to state that if the newspapers have published a letter that was misleading and misrepresenting, insofar as it appeared to be either my statements or as coming from me, I am responsible for this and not the papers."

LEWIS'S EXPLANATION.
Concerning the correspondence with Mr. Pindell, Senator Lewis said: "The creation of these letters assumed to have been from me to Mr. Pindell, as published, now develops to have been the result of collusion on the part of a former employee of my office in Washington, who had previously forced my name to checks and had been protected by me from the penalty because of his family and political connections. They shaped these letters and sought to dispose of the same as being from me to Mr. Pindell. The stenographer having memory that letters of some kind on the subjects referred to had been dictated by me to Mr. Pindell, the case was taken by a commissioner. The defendant companies are the St. Louis Dress and Provision Company, the Hammond Packing Company, Morris & Co., Swift & Co., and Armour & Co."

Los Angeles Man Found Near Railroad Tracks as Joliet, Called by Different Names.

JOLIET (Ill.) Nov. 12.—H. A. Kellogg of Los Angeles, who was found seriously injured beside the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad tracks, near here, Sunday morning, was in a favorable condition today at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Kellogg, who said he had two brothers in Los Angeles, told a story having been robbed and thrown from an east-bound train in the early hours of Sunday. He was found by a farmer who cared for him until a railroad ambulance could be called. The farmer understood the man to give the name of Moley.

It was the farmer the injured man told he had two brothers in Los Angeles. From his first disconnected story, it was understood Kellogg was a University of California student. He is about 39 years of age, was well dressed, but had no money or valuables. His injuries were such as might have been caused by being thrown from a fast train.

TO CONCENTRATE MARINES.

Secretary Daniels Would Put Them in Three Places in United States and at Panama.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Secretary Daniels announced today he favored concentrating all marines except those on duty aboard ship at three important bases in the United States with a few bases in the Panama Canal Zone. The Secretary said he thought one base should be on the Pacific Coast with the other two probably at San Francisco, Manila and Philadelphia. The plan would leave at stations only sufficient marines to perform routine duties.

In 1911 he served several months in the St. Louis workhouse. Last month, while here at a fashionable hotel, he met and married Mrs. Bertha May Rose, a widow of Oakland, Cal. ## ALLEGES FAKE BIDS. Navy Yard Clerk and Smelting Company Manager Are Convicted of Defrauding Government.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 12.—Edwin P. Mayer, chief clerk in the storekeeper's office at the Puget Sound navy yard, and Einar Goldberg, manager of the Great Western Smelting and Refining Company, were found guilty by a jury in the United States District Court tonight of conspiracy to defraud the government in the purchase of supplies for the navy yard.

The government alleges that it was defrauded of large sums by the conspirators, who entered fictitious bids for naval supplies. The frauds are alleged to have extended over many years and the exact amount lost to the government has never been estimated.

Mr. Corder, jointly indicted with Mayer and Goldberg, was acquitted tonight.

PREDICTS END OF POLITICIANS.

EXPERT WOULD RUN CITIES
LIKE A BUSINESS.

Declares Recent Experiments in Selling Municipal Bonds "Over the Counter" Is an Evidence of the Increased Interest by Citizens in Municipal Management.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
TORONTO (Ont.) Nov. 12.—A report in recent municipal advance, said Clinton Rogers Woodruff of Philadelphia tonight in his annual review before the National Municipal League, is the realization that municipal administration is a business for permanent experts and not for politicians placed in temporary control of our cities by the fortunes of the ballot. Mr. Woodruff is secretary of the league, which began here tonight its nineteenth annual meeting.

"The city manager plan," he said,
"is an evolution of the Galveston idea. In short, it constitutes a natural and effective solution of governmental forms under American conditions."

Regarding public control of public utilities, Mr. Woodruff said: "The question is not shall there be public control or none, but as to the form of that control. It is now generally conceded that public utilities, and chief among these are municipal utilities, must be carefully supervised and controlled so that the rights of the communities and of the users are not adequately protected. That is municipal advance."

Mr. Woodruff spoke of recent experiments in selling municipal bonds
"over the counter" as evidence of increased interest by citizens in municipal management.

The commission form of city government, he said, had gained in popularity with remarkable rapidity.

"Non-partisanship," he asserted,
"has been the aim of the newer form of government."

"Municipal home rule has been making great gains within the last few years. Non-partisanship, the direct election of Federal Senators and municipal home rule, all represent municipal advance of the most effective kind, in that they place municipal affairs clearly on their own basis."

TOO MANY INSECTS.
Bolivia and Brazil Have Some Large Ones, the Bite of Which Will Incapacitate a Man.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat:] Insect pests are a plague on the boundary of Bolivia and Brazil. "In the forests and on the smaller rivers," writes Commander Herbert A.
Edwards, R.N.R., in the Geographical Journal, "the bite is made almost unbearable. Ants are met with everywhere;
they swarm over one's person in hundreds, and most of them bite most severely. There is one kind of red ant, which lives in trees hollowed out by themselves, whose bite is like a suck with a red-hot iron. If a person inadvertently touches or leans up-against one of these trees the ants swarm out upon him instantly, and his life for hours afterward is a long, drawn-out misery. Then there are the huge ants, called tucanderos, one and a half inches in length; they live in the forks of trees. Their bite is particularly painful, and causes the part affected to swell up as if poisoned. One of our soldiers was incapacitated for several days by a bite of a tucandero. Red ants, black ants which make broad, straight roads of their own and move about in battalions, grayish white ants, living in red colored mounds, six feet high; yellow ants—each and every one has its own particular way of making unwelcome the intruder into its habitat."

"Butterflies, during bright sunshine, settled on the survivors and the instruments they were using in such numbers that the survey work became an impossibility. Nor is this all. Wreaths of many colors, but always with a sting; hornets, which give no mercy to man or beast; bees of all sizes,
some of which swarm in one's shirt,
eyes, hair, ears, mouth and nostrils, seeking moisture. Every blade of grass has a tick of some sort, waiting opportunity to bury itself in someone's flesh."

"Soldiers, horrid hairy creatures, with bodies six inches long, are sometimes met. One of our men was stung or bitten by one of these when out shooting; his foot where he was bitten became very inflamed and broke out into raw patches. He had to be left behind, as we were on the march,
and when we sent for him three weeks later he was still limping."

FATAL TO GOOD LOOKS

This Blood and Nervousness Will Quickly Wreck Beauty.

Pale people are generally nervous.
This blood not only affects the complexion but it also weakens the nerves by robbing them of nourishment.

When you have so far lost control of your nerves that you "fly to pieces" over the least little noise or excitement, it is high time to give your nerves a rest and to build up your blood. The drawn look, the sunken eyes, the deepening lines about the mouth and forehead, the loss in weight, are plain signs that the nerves and the body are being poorly nourished.

PANAMA CANAL VS. GOOD ROADS.

WILSON DECLARES HIGHWAYS OF MORE IMPORTANCE.

Tells Patrons of Husbandry that Money Spent on the "Big Ditch"
Could Have Been Used to Much Better Benefit to People of This Country.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
MANCHESTER (N. H.) Nov. 12.—
The labor and money spent on the Panama Canal might have been used to better purpose on the highways of this country, Oliver Wilson of Illinois, master of the National Grange, told the delegates to the national convention of the Patrons of Husbandry, in his annual report today.

"The building of the Panama Canal is a national project of which all Americans are proud, yet the same amount of labor and money spent on our highways at home would create benefits nearer and probably more important to our own people," he said.

Master Wilson declared that the Federal government almost ignored the question of transportation between the country home and the railroad, the farm and the business center, except to give advice on road construction.

"The National Grange," he said,
"should urge the employment of prisoners in preparation of road material, and in actual road work under the honor system."

Wilson also submitted ideas from the viewpoint of the farmer regarding rural credits, saying:
"I believe any rural credit system should make it easy and safe for a farmer to borrow money to buy or improve his land or equipment to operate the same."

"Long-time credit at the lowest possible interest should be available for the farmer who desires it."

"The so-called rural credit commission that was sent to Europe had among its members but very few representatives of agriculture, consequently we can expect but little, if any benefit from its report."

"Any system under private control, operated as a special privilege, would ultimately prove a detriment to agriculture."

"I am opposed to any rural credit system or any other system of finance that separates farmers from other business men. All that we ask for the farmer is equal opportunity with all other business men."

TATE LAWS TOO DRASTIC.
The Independent Order of Foresters of Canada Gives Up Its Wisconsin Charter.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
MADISON (Wis.) Nov. 12.—The independent Order of Foresters of Toronto, Can., which has upwards of 4500 members in Wisconsin, rendered its charter to the State Insurance Department today. The same order withdrew from Minnesota last Monday. The action was taken because of strict requirements demanded by the State for writing insurance.

BOOTH'S HYOMEL

Has Benefited Thousands of Catarrh Sufferers—Will Do the Same for You or Money Back.

The Hyomel Inhaler, the little doctor that has effectively benefited many thousands of sufferers from catarrh, bronchitis, coughs and colds in the head, makes it easy and pleasant to treat yourself with Hyomel. Just pour a few drops in the inhaler and breathe it in—no stomach dosing to upset the stomach. The healing, soothing and antiseptic air will reach every nook and crevice of the mucous membrane of the nose and throat; will purely stop the irritation almost immediately; will allay the inflammation, drive out the foul odor; kill the germs and banish the disease.

Hyomel as sold by druggists everywhere will quickly and surely relieve catarrh and diseases of the breathing organs or money refunded.

If you suffer from offensive breath,
raising of mucus, frequent sneezing,
husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, spasmodic coughing, crusts in the nose, watery eyes and general weakness and debility, or any other symptoms of catarrh, you should use Hyomel at once.

A complete Hyomel outfit, including inhaler and bottle of liquid, costs only $1.00, and an extra bottle of liquid, if afterwards needed, is but 50 cents.—Advertisement.

Other Reasons Why These Securities Are
THE VERY BEST INVESTMENT

They are a basic Real Estate security. They always take precedence over mortgages, judgments and all liens except taxes. They are superior to mortgages, as the bond is a small lien compared to the value of the property. They represent benefits received that enhance the value of property. They are paid through and collected by the City Treasurer. They will earn better than 7% at par through redemptions.

They are good collateral for loans. They can be had in any amount from $25.00 upward. They are available at all times. They are not a hand-made security. They have a public record of 20 years behind them. They do not fluctuate in price. They do not depend upon the success or honesty of individuals, firms or corporations. They represent money. They are easily converted into cash.

Our Experience of Ten Years and the Record of Twenty Years of Cities of California Prove These Securities Have No Superior. We Handle All Collections Without Charge.

she and Prof. Doty say that she is entitled to be placed on the eligible list, as her papers when "found" showed that she passed the required standard as stenographer.

It is also possible that Evans' eligibility will be tested by court proceedings, as many lawyers hold he is not legally entitled to a seat. He can also be removed by four out of five votes of the Supervisors upon a showing that he is unfit by disposition and temperament for so exacting and difficult a position.

It is said he has already alienated his chief examiner, Prof. Doty, and that Commissioners Sykes and Hunter do not approve of all his methods. The meeting yesterday was called to discuss the proposed removal of the Civil Service Commission for the regulation of county employees. The members of the commission, the Supervisors, various heads of departments and the District Attorney's representatives.

DE-EVANIZE IT.

The efficiency board will probably recommend the elimination of a number of freak ideas proposed by Chairman Evans, who is credited with being the author of several innovations in his zeal for increasing the efficiency of the 300 employees.

Coincident with the discussion an opinion was filed by County Counsel Hill and Dist. Atty. Fredericks in regard to the county charter provisions on the Civil Service Commission.

The opinion covers the legal status of county employees, who, it is held, are to be appointed by the Supervisors whose powers under the charter are greatly extended.

It is held that the State as the sovereign power jealously guards its powers and those delegated to a county which is permitted to formulate a charter of its own subject of course to the Constitution of the State.

However, it is held that the State Constitution expressly limits the powers of a county under the charter and especially in the creation of a Civil Service Commission.

The legal opinion states that there is no provision of the Constitution authorizing the power to regulate the qualifications of assistants, deputies and attaches except to the Supervisors. In other words, the board is the supreme authority in the county and the Civil Service Commission can only act in an advisory capacity.

The opinion closes as follows: "We are, therefore, of the opinion that that portion of the charter conferring upon the Civil Service Commission the right and power to prescribe and regulate the selection of the employees is a duty imposed upon the Supervisors."

She Hopes Larson Will Be Acquitted.

Miss Lulu Carpenter.

Called the "other woman" in the Larson murder case. She was the principal witness against him yesterday and refused to look at him while testifying. Afterward, however, she declared their feeling for each other has not altered.

Made Love.

I do hope he will be acquitted. If he is convicted a shadow will hang over my life that can ever be dispelled. His vindication means so much to both of us. My feelings toward him have not changed, and if I did not look at him while testifying, it was because I could not bear to do so. I would go up and greet him now if it were the proper place and time, for my feeling toward him still endures.

Though he had not gained so much as a glance from the girl for whose love he is alleged to have killed his wife in the lonely Verdugo hills, Larson was apparently well pleased at her appearance on the stand, and when he was being led back to his cell a slight smile illumined his usually placid countenance.

LARSON PLEADED. "It is all right," he said; "her testimony was not so damaging as they hoped and I am well satisfied with the way things have gone today. I feel that everything is going to come out all right."

When Miss Carpenter was called to the stand a murmur was audible throughout the courtroom, and there was a general craning of necks as she walked to the witness chair. She was dressed in black velvet and wore a fashionable black hat, with a prominent white feather. As she passed within a few feet of Larson, he moved suddenly forward in his chair, and his sallow face colored. He stared at her fixedly, and the hands, usually folded and resting calmly upon the table, twitched and trembled visibly.

He was apparently looking for some friendly nod from the witness, but she shifted her position in the witness chair and gazed away. Once when Judge Craig was instructing her as to her replies and once when she was describing Larson's appearance when he called upon her, Miss Carpenter's eyes rested upon the defendant, and she smiled at her pathetically, but she turned quickly away.

When interrogated by Asst. Dist. Atty. Ford as to Larson's attitude toward her at their alleged meeting, on the night following his wife's murder, Miss Carpenter blushed and falteringly admitted that Larson had kissed her when saying good night.

"More than once," asked Ford.

"Yes," the nurse slowly answered, dropping her head. "Then," she added, "he put up his hand, and I said, 'You don't love me, do you?' 'I think enough of you to make you my wife,' she said he added. 'How much more could I think of you?'"

LOOKS SHEEPISH. While she was telling the story Larson smiled and again the color rose to his cheeks. He looked sheepishly about him and bowed his head. "On the night of June 23 I had an engagement to meet Mr. Larson at the Pacific Electric building at 8 o'clock. I noticed he walked as if he were weary, and he remarked how strenuously he had been working," she said.

"I said: 'It's too bad you have to work so hard, and it will tell upon you later in life.' We walked down the street and he spoke about hurting his finger. 'In your line of business,' I remarked, 'it must give you considerable trouble.'"

"Oh, no," he replied, 'not to speak of.' There was considerable controversy between the attorneys for the prosecution and defense over the testimony in regard to Larson's finger on the night in question. Describing further their actions on the night of June 23, the witness stated they had gone to a cafeteria on Hill street.

"What for?" she was asked. "To eat," she replied, and both she and Larson laughed.

Then she testified they went to the Methodist Church and on their way home stopped in an ice cream parlor. He good-night kiss wore the climate of the evening's enjoyment. She said she had met Larson in January, when he came to see her aunt about some property in Fresno.

"My aunt asked him if he had a mother, and if he wrote to her. He promised her he would write."

"Did he ever make violent or passionate love to you?" she was asked. "No," she replied, smiling.

"Did he ever ask you to marry him?" "No."

"Did he ever make any physical demonstration of love?" "No."

"SAID IT IN PAPER." "On the Wednesday following the murder," the witness testified, "I told him I was going away and he came to call on me that evening. My sister Anna was present. We had dinner together. I spoke to him about the Verdugo murder. I said: 'Did you notice in the paper about the murder in the hills?' He said 'Yes.' After dinner we went to a place where I was to be employed, and I kissed him good night. I never saw him after that. Toward the end of our acquaintance he grew more affectionate in manner toward me, but our relations at all times were absolutely proper."

Other witnesses called during the day by the prosecution included Martin Poulson, saloon-keeper on East First street, who testified that he had sold Larson two bottles of beer on the day before his wife's death. He identified the fragments of bottles found near the woman's body as similar to the bottles he had sold her husband.

Deputy Sheriff Wright gave a vivid portrayal of Larson's actions when he was taken to the undertaking rooms. He identified the fragments of bottles found near the woman's body as similar to the bottles he had sold her husband.

Fannie McCallan testified to the finding of the woman's body, and meeting a man who resembled Larson, who had been seen at the scene of the crime.

Deputy Sheriff Moody, Sweeney and Bradfield, Ralph Stahl, for whom Larson worked as a barber, Ambrose Klunkhammer and William Hixon, railroad men, were also witnesses.

HAVING OPTIM. John A. Edison will be arraigned before United States Commissioner Williams today on the charge of having smoking opium in his possession.

Edison is said to have employed a unique method to circumvent the law, tying the four cans of the stuff on the air valves of a Pullman sleeper on the Southern Pacific Railroad, where it was discovered at Colton. Edison was taken into custody by Charles Salter, special agent of the United States Treasury Department. Edison came north from Calexico, and it is alleged that he is a gambler.

CALL MORE WITNESSES. A number of additional witnesses have been subpoenaed by the government in the Lyman case, which is to be resumed in Judge Wallborn's court today. It is now said that the case will not go to the jury for four weeks at the present rate of hearing.

The new witnesses were investors in Panama lands and are intended to prove the contention of the government that Lyman represented that the Panama Development Company were the agents of the Panamanian government in the sale of the lands.

Removing the Guarantee Fund books

From the Los Angeles Investment Company headquarters. The books are being removed to the Federal grand jury. The books are being removed to the Federal grand jury.

For Examination.

GUARANTEE FUND BOOKS GO TO THE GRAND JURY

THAT the government intends to delve into the affairs of all the corporations subsidiary to the Los Angeles Investment Company was indicated yesterday when United States District Attorney Schooner issued a subpoena duces tecum, ordered by the District Court, commanding W. D. Deeble, ex-secretary of the company, to produce certain papers and memoranda connected with the business of the Guarantee Fund.

The subpoena was of the most comprehensive character and directed Secretary Deeble to produce for the inspection of the Federal grand jury "all of the minute books of the Guarantee Fund and any and all other books or records of the said Guarantee Fund containing any and all minutes, memoranda or record of any and all proceedings of the directors, board of control or committee heretofore in charge of control of the said Guarantee Fund; also all cash books, journals and ledgers, canceled checks, check registers and check books belonging to the said Guarantee Fund, and all tags and memoranda of sales and purchases covering all original sources of entry in any of the books of the Guarantee Fund."

The subpoena was served on Secretary Deeble by Deputy Marshal Dingie and Postoffice Inspectors Ranger and Webster, who have been actively engaged in the investigation of the affairs of the Los Angeles Investment Company at intervals during the past year and a half. The officers were met courteously by Secretary Deeble, who at once indicated his willingness to comply with the order.

Auditor Mowder said that if it had been known the government wanted the records of the Guarantee Fund, they would have been ready for the officers without any delay. Both officers expressed themselves as willing to co-operate with the Federal officers in any way.

Some delay ensued in the delivery of the books to the officers on account of the fact that the office of the Guarantee Fund has been recently moved to the third floor of the Los Angeles Investment Company building at Eighth and Broadway, but Secretary Deeble assisted in leading the volumes into a waiting automobile, and accompanying the officers to the Federal building, where the records were at once taken to the room of the grand jury on the fifth floor.

The only witness of the afternoon was W. J. Paley, the expert accountant who has been working on the books of the Investment company and its subsidiary corporations since September 27. Secretary Deeble did not appear as a witness, his only function for yesterday at least being to bring the records in response to the subpoena.

Importance, also, is given to the fact that the books of the Guarantee Fund are being removed to the Federal grand jury.

A NATURAL EMBALMER. Remarkable Power Over Fruit, Vegetables, Birds and Mammals of a Woman in France.

[Illustrated Magazine:] Some ten years ago M. and Madame Curie, the two Parisian physicists, startled an unbelieving world by the announcement that there was a new element to be obtained from pitchblende, which would revolutionize the laws of the real universe. This discovery of radium by the Gallic savants has more than borne out their prophecy, and the end is not yet. There now hails from that same land of France another eye-opening, world-stirring pronouncement, that bids fair to divide the scientific world asunder, and split wide open such religious sects as the spiritualists and the Swedenborgians.

Two eminent scientists of undisputed position in the university life of Europe, men without the slightest tinge of gray color or left-handed suggestion upon their scholarly countenances, by name, Louget, professor of chemistry of the faculty of Bordeaux, and Dr. Clarac, a leading physician of the same town, announce that one Madame X—, who does not care to have her name mentioned publicly, has been able for the past ten years to stop the decay, putrefaction, fermentation and even decay of fruits, vegetables, and dead animals, simply by laying on of hands.

Such occult manifestations are naturally taken at first sight with a grain of salt. Indeed, ordinarily, the mere mention of such a miraculous power in a human individual might excite only ridicule. Reported, however, by such acknowledged pundits as Prof. Louget and Dr. Clarac, Madame X—'s case is greatly exciting the learned world.

For ten years she has been able, at anyone's request, to make mummies of fruits, flowers, vegetables, fish, molluscs, crabs, oysters, birds, and mammals as large as a weasel. She simply places the plant or animal upon a table, passes her hands back and forth over it for fifteen minutes, and then repeats this twice a day for two weeks, or less, in accord with the

TIGERS AWAIT UTAH INVASION.

Strong Rocky Mountain
Team Here Saturday.

Games With Oxy and Pomona May Prove Test.

Trojans Rounding Into Shape for Stanford.

BY OWEN R. BIRD.
And the windows of heaven were opened and it rained. It certainly did the parched earth a world of good,
but it was bad for football practice.
All the southern variety teams got out and splashed around in the mire, but when the flood reached the three-foot mark all activities were called off and the men of war retired to the training-houses, where they received talks from their coaches. In short it was an afternoon of brain work and study, which naturally gives but little room for propounding the whys and the wherefores.

Bitter Battles.
The Oxy squad was given a short center in the sleep and then retired for a blackboard talk. From all that can be learned at the present time the Tiger machine is at last rounding into form. And I might add that this is the time for this same turn of affairs, for the big games are coming.

Occidental has two more big games this season. Next Saturday the team meets the University of Utah, which is a team—from all reports—which should make these Orange and Black warriors show their mettle. Two weeks from the date of the Utah game the great annual battle with Pomona is to be staged at Claremont.
This game bears the same relation to western football as does the Harvard-Yale game to the battles in the East.

Breakers Ahead.
But to return to this Utah invasion.
These Mormons are mighty men, there is no doubt. Their line is heavy and they have a great quarter and also a splendid runner. True, the team has not won all of its games, but in each affair the score has been close, when against them, and their play has always bordered more or less on the spectacular.

In meeting this aggregation the Tigers are facing one of the best teams in the Rocky Mountain conference, where they stand real football players and that is no mistake.
A southern victory means a lot and all may rest assured that no stone will be left unturned to roll up the winning score of the day.

Lucky Hums.
On the Wednesday following the game with Occidental, the Utah variety goes to Pomona for a go at the Huns. This feature of the schedule is in favor of the Huns as the Tiger game will likely take a lot of sweat out of the Mormons, but at that Stanton's men will certainly have to show something if they are going to capture the game.

Splendid Subs.
The Pomona team, like the Tiger aggregation, is also fairly rounding in form. The Whittier affair developed no injuries, outside of a bad shiner which was washed out. One of the ends, The Whittier game gave the Huns their first hard workout and they have now tasted blood, just at the right time, and should go great guns against the Rocky Mountain men.

The fact that Courtney Henderson, tackle, and Cogswell, full-back, will soon be back in the game, lends added strength to the Pomona prospects. McCullough and Greedy have been showing sterling class in the veteran's places, and once the old heads are back in the game these young men, Greedy and McCullough, will be of great value on the side lines for emergencies.

So, taking this Utah equation as a whole, it simply comes to this, two of the strongest teams of the south are to be pitted against a strong but unknown quantity; the result of both games is only a matter of conjecture, but after it is all over the public will have a fairly good line on the famous Pomona-Occidental struggle.

Fighting Food.
A few words regarding the Trojans.
The team is rapidly becoming a seething mass of fighting spirit for the Stanford game, which comes one week from Saturday. The squad goes on a training table next Monday.
Coach Higgins will spend most of his time from this point on in grooming the team in inside play and speed, and there seems to be no reason why the Trojans and the Cardinals should not put up one of the greatest football battles of history.

Tom and Jerry.
There is still a problem to be settled to the back field. It is concerning full-back and one of the five.
Jerry Craig showed a lot of speed against the New Zealanders, but hardly knows the position. Neuner, while willing, lacks a certain element of speed, needed at full.

In regard to the second five, Tommy Davis has been going in great shape, but has off days now and then.
His defense is good and his attack is strong at times, but he seems to have difficulty in breaking up the attack once it gets started down the field.
However, there seem to be no other men on the squad capable of filling his shoes, so that will probably have to drift Tommy from now until the game in the polar north.

Mighty Trojan Seven.
The other portion of the team—the seven—is about right, that is as near right as human beings can get and still be human. It is now a matter of building up their condition for the Stanford game and keeping them on edge, once they have attained that all-important point.

Upon these men the brunt of the battle will be forced and it is of vital importance to get them into shape to bear it, but knowing them, I think there is no question about the ability of the Trojan fighting pack; it is there.

polo championship. From left to right, Lella Catudal, Zelma Catudal, Aileen Allen and Georgia Carmany.

LOCAL GIRLS FORM WATER POLO TEAM; WANT GAMES.

TO PROVE that California girls, and especially those of the southland, excel in aquatic sports as well as all others, the water polo team of a club of Los Angeles girls challenges all comers in the fast water sport.

The girls' swimming club, which consists of seven pretty maidens, all swimmers of more than ordinary skill, has its headquarters at the Bimini plunge, where the training stunts and weekly meets attract much attention. This week for the first time they appeared in their new suits of red and white, which, judging by their brevity, were designed for utility as well as beauty.

Georgia Carmany, the leader of the girls, is noted as the heroine of a sensational swim across San Francisco Bay last summer, for which she received a diamond medal, defeating many other woman swimmers of note on the rough trip. Her forte seems to be the rough water work, and much is expected of her in long distance and open sea swimming, although in the polo team and fancy dive she is one of the main-stays of the club.

Aileen Allen, in sprints and fancy diving, will undoubtedly be heard from in the various big meets of the season, as will Ivy Crosswhite. Both girls, however, are good on the distance swims and open water races.
Add to the talented group, Zelma Catudal and Dorothy Albright, do-ma all around swimmers and are first-ton variety football team, using its regular attack, beat the scrubs, using Tale formations today by a score of 11 to 7. Law succeeded in getting around right end for two long runs, both of which were responsible for scores.

TURKEY DAY TENNIS MEET.

Los Angeles Country Club
the Scene.

McLoughlin and Bundy Are
to Appear.

Best of Local Players Also Are Entered.

Local lovers of tennis are to have another treat in the near future.
Thanksgiving Day to be exact, when the Los Angeles Country Club will hold its second annual Turkey Day tennis tournament.

Last year's meet will long be remembered by all those who were fortunate enough to witness it for it was on that occasion that the national champions Maurice McLoughlin and Tom Bundy were defeated by Claude Wayne and Nat Browne, who in turn went down before Griffin and Strachan.

This doubles tournament will this year be limited to sixteen teams, all of them picked from the best players on the Coast and the winners will have a leg on the beautiful L.A.C.C. cups. The present holders are Fottrell and Johnston, who won the title last year from their rivals Griffin and Strachan.

That this year's tournament will be productive of the same high class play that characterized last year's tournament is evident by a perusal of the list of players prepared by the Tennis Committee of the club to whom invitations will be extended. Among them are the following from San Francisco and vicinity:

Maurice E. McLoughlin, William
Johnston, Elia Fottrell, Clarence J.
Griffin, John Strachan, Sumner Hardy, Carl Gardner, Charles Feler, Wickham Havens, Charles Bates, R. T.
Crawford, Dr. Hill, Roland Roberts,

D. Johns, Albert Bull, Bowie Detrick, Percy Murdoch, Eustace Hunt, W. G.
Knowlton, J. C. Rohlfis and Ratcliffe.

From Los Angeles and vicinity the invitation list includes the following well-known players:
Thomas C. Bundy, Harold H. Braly,
Allen V. Duncan, Nat. R. Browne,
Claude A. Wayne, R. H. F. Varlet, J.
Ward Dawson, Eugene Overton, Alphonso E. Bell, Simpson M. Sinsbaugh, Will Bacon, Donald C. Young, Harry Rogers, Charles Rogers, Winfred Mace, Harry W. Gorman, Lewis R. Freeman, Oscar R. Marshall, E. P.
Morphy, J. W. Latham, Edwin Mc-Cormick, Allyn H. Barber, Victor Dicson, Horace Donnell, Kenneth C.
Newell, D. N. Goodwin, C. E. Moore,
Eugene Warren, George Eastman, Clifford Craig, Ben Freese, Harold B.
Huntington, Herbert Lockwood,
Henry R. Brown, Ronald W. W.
Piedley, Eric Piedley, Frank
Hart, Clarence Barker and others.

In addition to the men's doubles event, it is planned to have an invitation mixed doubles tournament limited to sixteen teams. Among the ladies who will be invited to play in this event are:

Mrs. R. O. Bruce, Miss Florence
Sutton, Miss Alice Scott, Miss Edna Forsyth, Mrs. F. H. Seymour, Mrs.
Widdowson, Mrs. F. H. Seymour,
Miss M. Young, Miss Lily Kingdall,
Miss Jessie Grieve, Miss Mildred
Dawson, Mrs. Dorothy Eaton, Miss Maud Lowell, Mrs. Walter Ellis and others.

These ladies will be partnered with the best of the men players and some very high-class tennis should result.
This event will be played off on Friday afternoon, Nov. 28, 1918, and all day Saturday, Nov. 29, 1918.

The general public is cordially invited to witness the events of these three days, for, which no admittance will be charged.

BANKS AND GREER LEADING IN CHAMPIONSHIP TOURNEY.

BANKS, Greer and O'Brien are one step nearer the Pacific Coast pocket billiard championship today by virtue of their respective defeats of Woolsey, Ingram and Wilson in yesterday's tournament games at the Majestic. It necessarily follows that the trio last named are one notch farther removed from the prize, Wilson and Woolsey must now win all their remaining games in order to figure in the prize list, while Ingram and O'Brien play with but a margin of one point on the side of safety.

Banks and Greer have won two games each, losing none; Ingram and O'Brien each have won one, and lost one; Woolsey and Wilson have both lost two straight.

Friday's games in the third round
may eliminate some competitors entirely, as far as awards are concerned.
Ingram and Banks are matched for the noon game, O'Brien and Woolsey at 2:15 o'clock, and Greer and Wilson for the most critical test of the day, at 7:15 p.m. Greer's loss would seriously mar his race for the title and first prize, and as previously suggested, Wilson must fight to stay anywhere.

CLASSY PLAY.
In the noon game yesterday Banks gave an exhibition which was good to see, putting down 100 balls to twenty-three by Woolsey; taking the second and third frames complete in successive balls, for a total of twenty-eight, the highest run of the tournament, and finishing with an uncon-pleted run of twenty-five, all in fourteen innings. Woolsey's recent illness tells much against him in a hard contest, but he would have had little show against Banks' nearly perfect shooting, at the best. Points scored:
Time, fifty-five minutes. Run, Banks, 28, 10, 12, 28; Woolsey, 7
high, scratches, Banks, 1; Woolsey, 4.
Misses, Banks, 9; Woolsey, 1. Safety plays Banks, 4; Woolsey, 3.

YOUNGSTER OUTPACED.
The afternoon clash between O'Brien and Wilson packed the house with fans. Both players were narrowly realizing that it was a case of make or break, against a dangerous opponent.

O'Brien took an early lead of a few points, but was overhauled and tied by Wilson with fifty-five balls in the

DUCKS BEING KILLED OFF.

Mysterious Disease Has Been Attacking Them.

State Commission Conducts Investigation.

Hard to Tell What Is the Cause of It.

BY FRANK C. CLARKE, M.A., Special Assistant to State Fish and Game Commission of California.

Tulare Lake, in Kings county, and Buena Vista Lake, in Kern county, have again been the scene of much disease among our native water birds. Thousands of ducks (principally pintail, teal, shoveler), as well as many other kinds of water birds, have fallen victims to this disease. This, or a similar malady, has appeared each summer (generally about August) for the past six years in the southwestern part of the San Joaquin Valley.

Heavy losses have occurred each year, the present season being perhaps second only to the year of 1910, for a heavy death list. However, the disease of the present season (which began about the end of July) has not yet spread to every locality. At present many birds are sick and dying in the Tulare Lake region, and so the season of 1913 may yet be a record year. Usually the disease abates at the close of the hot summer weather, but the present epidemic seems to be an exception in the matter.

According to authentic reports, this duck disease first appeared in epidemic form about August, 1910, in the Buena Vista Lake, which lake, though now dry, is situated in the southwestern part of Tulare county. It was not long restricted to Buena Vista Lake, for it was that season of the next one that the trouble was found in other localities.

ONLY TWO PLACES.
The epidemic of the present year has been restricted to the two large lakes, Tulare Lake and Buena Vista Lake. Tulare Lake is lower now than it has been for the past six years, and at the present rate of evaporation will, this time, be entirely dry within the present year to a yet.

Great interest has naturally been aroused over the situation in this State, as thousands upon thousands of our finest game birds have perished from this unknown disease. The very least estimate of the dead for this year places the number at over 50,000, and it may be several times this were the accurate facts only known. This is the estimate made, based on actual counts, up to October 10, 1913, but since that time many birds have died, while many more are sick.

No systematic investigation was ever made on this subject until the present season, when the State Fish and Game Commission, working in co-operation with the University of California, detailed a research party from this latter institution to make a thorough investigation of this destructive disease. The field work was begun on the 10th of September, 1913, and continued until the 11th of the following month. Supplementary work to determine certain questions is still being carried on at the University of California.

SICK DUCKS SOLD.
Whatever has been the causative factor of the disease, it seems not to have been one which rendered the birds affected dangerous for human consumption, because many thousands of sick birds have doubtless been eaten through the markets of San Francisco, Los Angeles and other places. The writer has been told reliable parties that, ever since the disease was first known, many market hunters have reaped a two-fold harvest in their business by selling sick ducks.

These were easily obtained, as they could neither walk nor fly, and being fat, sold well. It is said that the market hunter would pick up a string of sick ducks, hang them up, get off several yards and fire shot into the birds to kill them, and thus allow any suspicion as to the nature of their condition and capture. Certainly the market hunter of wild game should have no more right to sell diseased birds than the stockman has to sell diseased beef or mutton. It is no doubt the bringing to light of these facts during the past year that led the State Board of Health to issue a quarantine on ducks from the areas affected by the disease, i.e., Tulare, Kings and Kern counties.

Many theories have been evolved as to the cause of this mysterious disease by those interested in the problem. Some have claimed that the birds have died from eating grain which had been treated with blue stone. Now corn, sorghum, pelicans, sandpipers, etc., do not feed on grain, and many of these birds died of the disease. Furthermore, the birds generally begin to die weeks before any grain is treated in the field. Such was the case this year.

Some have claimed that gorging on wild-caught fish killed the ducks. This is too absurd to discuss. Other parties have claimed that ducks have fed on green Kaibab corn so extensively that they were killed from indigestion, as they could not digest it. This is no better than the second idea. Others have claimed to have found the birds full of worms of various sorts, and have charged as being the responsible factors. As many of the birds are very fat when they die, it has been suggested by some that the extreme heat melts the fat and kills the birds.

Others believe that the gas rising in large quantities from the lake bottom, poisons the birds. Still a few believe, and with more reason than others, when we come to consider everything, that some organism has been introduced into some of our lake regions from some distant locality, and that this organism, maturing during the heat of summer, poisons the birds, either by direct consumption, or by poisonous products from its body.

CANNOT QUOTE.
But when we come to consider the nature of the malady, it is plainly a matter not to be solved by mere guesswork. For instance: What is the nature of the epidemic, if it is non-contagious? For it has been proved to be non-contagious. Why should the birds recover when removed to fresh water? For such is the case. Why should the trouble cease on the advent of cool weather? Now is it that the disease, though it is to be slain throughout, has appeared on the bodies of both fresh and stagnant water, when the waters of Lake Tulare have been found to reproduce the disease out in the field? These are some of the features that make the problem one of great interest.

Prior to 1906 this lake had dried up entirely and all of the bottom lands, approximately, were farmed. It was during this period that the lake bed was dyked off on the section lines for irrigation and farming purposes, and this was the origin of the levees of which we shall speak later. These levees in the central portion of the lake region were built only a few feet high. At present they are submerged, while around the borders of the lake they gradually rise out of the water and thus afford resting places for water birds; and as soon as dry enough, they are used as roads for travel, since most of them are from twenty to forty feet wide and are dry long before the lands between them. The winters of 1905-6 and 1906-7 were years of heavy rainfall, and the lake, together with adjoining sloughs, filled to a mark higher than for many years.

CONDITIONS.
Lake Tulare of today is not the beautiful body of water as described by Dr. Goldman in 1907. In the place of those floating islands of peat, each surrounded with a luxuriant growth of vegetation, there are now only a shallow body of stagnant water, far from any vegetation, peat or trees. Consequently, there are no breeding grounds for ducks or any kind of birds whatever.

The nearest vegetation is in several miles away, and consists of corn and other grains which have been planted on the bottom lands after the waters of the lake have receded. The bottom is a soft, black mud, containing large quantities of disintegrating organic matter. This mud is the abode of considerable insects and worm life, and consequently furnishes a certain amount of food for water birds.

Due to the fermenting process which goes on in the bottom muds of the lake, a great deal of gas is generated, principally marsh gas, but we do not believe this gas to be responsible at all for the epidemic, as has been suggested by some. The water is decidedly brackish, is translucent, almost opaque, and of a greenish-yellow color. Its heavy content of alkali gives it a very soapy, almost slimy feeling, and over large areas there is a heavy covering of a yellowish-brown mass of fermenting organic debris.

The fish (carp, perch, bass, catfish, etc.) of which the lake had a great abundance at one time, all died prior to the summer just past, the water becoming too stagnant for their existence.

FOOD SUPPLY.
The food supply for water birds around Lake Tulare was not the best. The cranes, pelicans and cormorants and nearly all migrated from the lake, as there was no more fish for them to feed upon. The fish having died some months before. But the ducks and other water birds were not so fortunate. A fairly good supply from the insects and worms in the lake. Several stomachs of well ducks showed that these birds had been feeding on these insects and small worms. However, the ducks in this locality feed principally at night in remote parts of the lake, and during the day return to the levees for safety. About dark these birds leave the lake and often fly a long distance to the levees, where they feed on grain or alfalfa.

When through feeding, they return to the lake for the day. This return may be during the day, but generally about dark, or a little before. In making these flights, large flocks are sometimes seen, but frequently the flocks are small and broken.

Most of the ducks are not native to this State. They have come here from the North—from British America and Alaska. Many years ago ducks bred in considerable numbers in the San Joaquin Valley, but since the lakes and sloughs have undergone such marked changes and since the former feeding and shelter grounds have been destroyed, there is no chance for them, and so we find very few breeding in that part of the State.

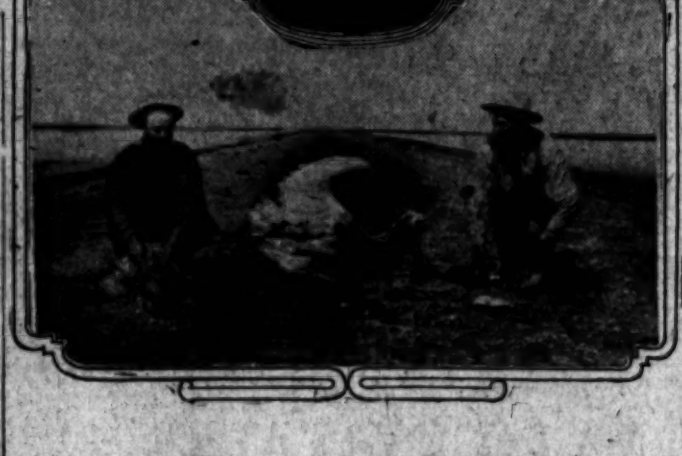

In this connection we should consider the great changes in conditions through which the ducks undergo in making their great flight from the far north. Among other factors we may note that the birds before maturity (for they migrate before full grown) leave a higher altitude, cool climate, with an abundance of fresh water and green food, and in a few days of more or less continuous traveling, reach our San Joaquin Valley—a region of heavy atmospheric pressure, intense heat, with stagnant water where many of the birds locate, such as Tulare Lake, and where green food is scarce.

Such marked and sudden changes, during the heat of the summer, and very probably, have considerable to do toward altering the normal conditions of the birds. Certainly they become very thirsty, and when in the presence of such bodies of water as Tulare Lake, drink a great deal of this water, stagnant as it may be. In the case of Tulare Lake, we shall show later that when birds are confined to this water they cannot survive. Stockmen in that region do not allow their stock to have access to the waters of this lake because it is said to produce sickness within a short time, and if much of it is consumed, to produce death.

HOW THEY LOOK.

The Investigational Committee took special pains to count and estimate the number of dead birds on the lake. Other principal observations were taken on the north and west sides of the lake, where, it is claimed by some, that ducks died less than on the south side. However, it is not to be noted that the prevailing winds on the lake at this time of the year are from north to south, and therefore, this factor may be responsible for the greater abundance of dead birds on the south side of the lake, because many carcasses are carried down the lake from north to south, by the wind. But as conditions on the north side of the lake were more favorable for our work, we selected that side for our purposes and consequently are able to give more data from this region than elsewhere.

The only counts made were of birds on the lake levees, as it was impossible to count all the birds on any of the sections between the levees, as part of this territory was in heavy mud or under water, at least part of the time. The counts made, included only those birds which remained on the levees after our approach. No birds were counted which were able to scramble into the water and swim off; only those which were dead or too sick to travel were enumerated. Two men were used to do the counting, one to call off the different species of birds, the other to tabulate the results.

The dead on three and three-fourths miles of levee on one side of the lake were counted with the result that there was an average of 497 dead ducks to the mile, and an average of 497 dead birds of all kinds to the mile. Now, these narrow strips of land (levees) where counted, were just a few feet wide up to thirty or forty feet wide, depending on the height of the water when the count was made.

Of course there were more dead birds on the levees per square foot than on the lands between them, as the birds assembled on these strips of land during the day, and again the wind blew them dying in the water southward to the levees. But taking into account the ducks on these areas, and those on the levees, the approximate average for all the birds affected was two dead ducks to the acre at the very least. Then figuring 15,000 acres a close estimate, as the total area of the affected on Tulare Lake territory, we have a total of 30,000 dead ducks, besides many other birds. On Buena Vista Lake we estimated 15,000 dead ducks, but the cormorants and other wild carnivora had eaten and carried away so many of the dead that it was impossible to make a fair estimate.

SYMPTOMS.

The first symptom of the disease, so far as could be learned, was the loss of the power of flight. Following this, the birds became unable to walk. But even after losing this function, they were able to swim and dive for several days, sometimes as long as a point of death. Paddling in the water never seemed difficult, but at night, or at dusk, they did not take the birds beneath the surface of the water. These functions, of course, were dependent on the conditions of the birds. On becoming very weak, many of the sick birds took to the levees, where they might rest. Here they would remain in one spot, often stuck in the mud, until death. During the later stages of the disease a whitish-green, yellowish diarrhea would develop.

During the later stages of the disease, the sick birds might be found holding the head up, or with the head and neck bent back, and the feet dead. While in this languid state, and under conditions of great heat and dryness, the eyes often became closed and the feathers matted, and the birds were unable to clean themselves. At times flesh flies deposited their eggs or larvae in the corners of the eyes, and this doubtless gave rise to the inflammation of some of the birds dying from "worms in the eyes." The mouth and throats of the sick birds were often dry and parched, due to the cessation of drinking and feeding. Temperatures of the sick birds were abnormal, ranging from 99 to 105 degrees Fahrenheit, while the normal temperature is about 107 degrees Fahrenheit.

On approaching a large flock of ducks on a levee, most of them would fly off when the approaching enemy would still be several hundred yards or a quarter of a mile away. But in these flocks it was nearly always to be noted that some of the birds would lose distance and lag behind in the flight, and often times would alight after a short journey, apparently weak and unable to go. Other birds would make no attempt to go when the main flock arose. On closer approach, these individuals if of the water, would swim off fairly rapidly; if on land, those able to travel would make an effort to get into the water and swim off. Many would attempt to fly, and after half swimming and half flying for a distance would gain wing and fly for perhaps a quarter of a mile, but more likely only a short distance, when they would slow down quickly and flutter onto the water. Others would not clear the water at all, but simply race along the top of the lake creating a big commotion, splashing the water violently, often quacking loudly as they made every possible effort of head, wings and legs to get out of the way. If the enemy got too close, many would try to dive. Sometimes they would remain down in the water several seconds, even twenty or thirty seconds, and then come up in another place several yards away. But the sicker birds probably would not be able to get much more than the head out of sight. Sick birds out upon the lake could nearly always be recognized even at a considerable distance, because they sat lower in the water, and not infrequently their tails drooped in the water. Sick birds out upon the lake, when becoming too weak to hold the head up any longer, naturally died by drowning.

Over fifty post mortem examinations were made. These revealed less than one would probably expect to find. There were no intestinal lesions or hemorrhages below the stomach. Most of the organs appeared nearly normal. However, the stomach were contracted with rigid folds of the mucous membrane and muscles, and usually one or more hemorrhages, though not always. In most cases the inner lining, with parts separated from the tissue underneath, would show patches of a heavy necrotic growth and decomposition of the tissue. This was generally accompanied by a heavy viscid mucus at the anterior opening of the stomach.

As these and other minor symptoms indicated slow poisoning of some kind and as no diseased organisms could be located in the blood nor grown or seen, it was decided to carry on some experiments to determine if the water of Tulare Lake possessed the ingredients which were responsible for the malady.

Consequently a camp was temporarily established for this purpose by Deputy Fish and Game Commissioners Tipton Mathews and E. W. Smiley, on the north side of Tulare Lake. This camp was located near a small arroyo well close to the southern border of a kaffir corn field. It was just two miles from this camp to the edge of the lake. Three stations for carrying on experiments were established: (a) one at this camp, (b) one on the edge of the lake, two miles directly south, and one (c) just one mile directly east of the second one. Wire cages, six feet long, three feet wide, and three feet high were constructed for holding the birds at these various places. The necessary food, shade, and water were given according to the test to be performed.

Two dozen spoonbill ducks were shipped down from the State game farm at Hayward, Cal. These birds being used as subjects and controls in the work. Over fifteen different experiments were made and used as checks against certain results and conditions.

In brief the results were as follows: (1) During the investigation, work, several dozen sick birds were brought from the lake and placed under favorable conditions of good food and good water. Over 90 per cent recovered completely.

There is no waiting for streets, walks, gas, water, light or phones. The neighborhood is established. Handsome residential streets intersect it. Four car lines at 5-cent fare offer exceptional transportation facilities. Manual Arts High School, the 35th Street Grammar School, the new Santa Barbara Avenue Grammar School and that latest notable and costly improvement, Exposition Park, all distinguish the vicinity and indicate the esteem in which the authorities hold that favored portion of the southwest. Why not buy in a choice direction where there is future outlook for your investment? Then "you're safe."

SOUTH PASADENA, Nov. 12.—Plans which the San Gabriel Valley Inter-city Commission has been making for a sewer for the cities of the valley have been materially advanced by the development of the plan of Pasadena, South Pasadena and Azusa for a common sewer to be located near the city of Pasadena.

Whittier cities are only waiting for the money to begin work on the sewer line, which will be run to the point chosen by the engineers for the common sewer, where it is planned to deliver the sewage to the city of Pasadena, which has agreed to dispose of the sewage in the ocean.

Another ordinance which will greatly aid in getting the affairs of the city under a business rule was passed last evening, and it provides that all tax deeds must be registered at the City Hall within the next 30 days. This refers only to property which has been sold by the city for failure to pay taxes. The object of the ordinance is to prevent the sale of property for taxes. Many of the property owners have been notified and they are expected to pay their taxes.

DEFENDER OF THE CABBAGE

The Ohio State Journal has been rebuked for saying that a number of prominent citizens of Milwaukee were poisoned by eating boiled cabbage. The honey-tongued defender of the cabbage is the editor of the Gallipolis (O.) Tribune, who assures the State Journal that the poison was not in the cabbage, but was "some foul ingredient put with it in the pot, or maybe in a side dish. A man who would suspect abroad about this sweet and toothsome vegetable is just the thing for school, street or auto wear. See them tomorrow at either store."

PARCEL POST'S

GREAT GROWTH.

TWO HUNDRED MILLION PACK-

AGES SENT IN YEAR.

Experts Set the Earnings for the

First Year as Forty Millions of Dollars—Great Increase Resulted

from Low Rate Change Recently

Made for Near Home.

[Christian Science Monitor:] Parcel

post experts of the government are prepared to raise the estimates made by them early in the year as to the probable amount of business the new system will do in the first year of its operation. All these early estimates are too small. Representative

David J. Lewis of the Cumberland, Maryland district, one of the original parcel post men in Congress,

said a few weeks ago that the parcel post would carry 100,000,000 packages in its first year. John C. Koon, chairman of the Parcel Post Commission, said it was likely that the total figure is contained in the light of the development of the new system. The experts understand that a sum considerably in excess of $40-

000,000 is easily within reach, and provided the holiday trade should be up to usual standards.

"Official reports from New York show that one firm, which didn't use the parcel post last spring, is now despatching in the postoffice between 11th and 38th streets daily. A merchant in Brooklyn, to whom the parcel post did not appeal in the beginning, has published hundreds of thousands of catalogues, with the result that his mail order business now amounts to thousands of packages a day.

"In New York, as a whole, the total number of parcel post packages sent in January was 4,600,000. In August, before the fall trade had begun, the total was 8,000,000, and there is reason for believing that the total for October and November will each greatly exceed that for August.

And what is true of New York is true also of the rest of the large city of the country, east and west, north and south."

Ruby Mines of Burma.

[Chicago Record-Herald:] The

civilized world knows little of the famous ruby mines of Mogok, in a valley of Burma, whence come nearly all the large rubies of the world. It lies through a forest which is seldom trod by whites. A few Englishmen by trade have been in the valley, and the work goes on all day and all night, the ruby-bearing earth being worked up in iron trolleys. A few strangers who have called at the mines have been told by the officials that they can keep any number of men

but no one has ever been able to find one yet. The gems are imbedded in the gold-colored clay, which stretches

along the whole of the valley, and it is only after the earth has been washed that the rubies are seen on the tables.
